

Child Protection Workshops

We will accept the below Child Protection workshop certificates which have been completed in the last 12 months:

LTA: 'Child Protection and Best Practice' (this will shortly change its name, TBA).

Sportscoach UK: 'Safeguarding and Protecting Children', or its predecessor 'Best Practice in Child Protection'.

The FA: 'Child Protection and Best Practice'

The RFU: 'Best Practice and Child Protection'

ASA: "Good Practice and Child Protection"

Three-hour basic awareness workshops offered by other sports bodies (these will usually have names like those mentioned above). Since the available programmes alter frequently, you should contact the LTA to check that the course you have attended can be accredited.

Basic awareness training (three hour workshop) from your Local Safeguarding Children Board or Area Child Protection Committee.

You may have attended other forms of training (eg in-house employee training) that have been designed to meet the same standards as the courses listed. These will normally be in the form of three hour workshops. If you think that you have attended a workshop that is likely to be accredited, please contact childprotection@LTA.org.uk to check.
